Current Concepts in Drug Therapy

April 23-24, 2015

WHO SHOULD ATTEND

Primary care providers, including general internists, family practitioners, allied health professionals and pharmacists

COURSE DESCRIPTION

As primary care providers we are constantly encountering a dizzying array of medication options and patient questions regarding advertised medications. We are responsible for managing complex medication regimens including treatments we may not be intimately familiar with. In addition, safety concerns and new indications for old medications arise regularly. In order to help primary care providers keep up to date on these issues we have organized this CME course on Current Concepts in Drug Therapy. Through the use of a case-based format the speakers will highlight innovations in drug therapies, review new indications for old medications and discuss medication side effects or drug interactions. Individual presentations will be followed by panel discussions during which participants will be able to ask questions.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

Upon completion of this activity, attendees should be able to:

- Evaluate the risks and benefits of new outpatient drug therapies
- Discuss new developments in the drug treatment of selected outpatient clinical conditions
- Make more informed drug treatment decisions in the outpatient setting
