

November 5, 2025 at 8:00 AM – 9:00 AM

Location: South Campus Center

Description:

The OB/GYN Grand Rounds lecture series provides the opportunity for national and international experts to lecture on the full spectrum of advances in women's health care. Lecturers are identified by everyone within the department so no aspect of women's health is overlooked. Topics INCLUDE BUT ARE NOT LIMITED TO cancer care; diversity, equity and inclusion; pelvic health; pregnancy; infertility, and general gynecology. The focus of the presentations is to incorporate the subject of the talks into practice. The desired outcomes will be that the audience will have increased knowledge of the subjects that are presented and have a clear path towards applying the knowledge learned to their practice.
