Endocrinology and Diabetes Update for Primary Care • March 13-14, 2025

WHO SHOULD ATTEND

This course is directed toward primary care providers including family practice physicians, internists, physician associates, advanced nurse practitioners, naturopathic physicians, nurses, and anyone with interest in endocrinology and diabetes care.

COURSE DESCRIPTION

Join us for an immersive experience tailored for primary care providers. Stay at the forefront of medical advancements in endocrinology and diabetes management.

This comprehensive course will empower you to:

- Master management of common thyroid problems
- Treat osteoporosis with confidence
- Treat gonadal disorders with ease
- Delve into diabetes-focused issues with new clinical trial data and therapeutic strategies
- Stay updated on the latest glucose monitoring technology

Don't miss this opportunity to enhance your expertise and deliver exceptional care to your patients.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

- Identify and manage common thyroid disorders effectively
- Diagnose and treat osteoporosis
- Assess and manage cardiovascular risk factors, including lipid profiles, weight, and metabolic dysfunction associated steatotic liver disease (MASLD)
- Analyze and apply new therapeutics, technologies, and cost considerations in diabetes treatment

Continuing Medical Education at the University of Washington is a self-sustaining unit and does not depend on or receive public monies in support of its educational efforts. The course fees are estimated to include transcript of AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™, access to the online instructional materials, catering, venue, logistics, taxes, faculty planning and salaries.

ATTENDANCE POLICY

Course activities are exclusively reserved for registered course attendees.
