

Webinar Agenda

Session A: Keynote, and Loeser Lecture

Keynote Address: We Have to Do A Better Job: How Structural Racism in Medicine Harms Both Doctors and Patients - Rachel Issaka, MD, MAS

Loeser Lecture: Pain: In the Brain or the Body? - John D. Loeser, MD

Session B: The Science of Pain Chronification and What to Do About It

Identification and Prevention of Pain in Vulnerable Populations - Nathalia Jimenez, MD

Biopsychosocial Mechanisms of Pain Chronification - Jacob Gross, MD, MPH

Recognition and Treatment of Postsurgical Chronic Pain - Katherin Peperzak, MD

Session C: Behavioral, Educational, and Physical Therapies for Acute and Chronic Pain

Pain Education for Pain Self-Management - Karen Weiss, PhD

Pain Prevention by Physical Activity and Psychologically-Informed Physical Therapy -
Natasha Parman, DPT

Brief Behavioral Interventions for Pain - Michelle Accardi-Ravid, PhD

Session D: Chronic Pain and PTSD

Healing Trauma: Native American Perspective - Kimberly Kardonsky, MD

Chronic Pain and Toxic Stress - April Gerlock, DNP

Opioids and PTSD: Why It's A Bad Idea - Mark Sullivan, MD, PhD

Session E: Access and Delivery of Multidisciplinary Pain Care: In-Person to Telehealth

Partnering with Your Patients to Access Trauma-Based Care - Eric Wanzel, MSW

Telehealth Delivered Multidisciplinary Pain Care - David Tauben, MD

Multidisciplinary Telehealth: Sounds Good, But Does it Pay? - Cara Towle, MSN